Therefore I would like to compile a custom version of arm for the arduino and an x86 version for the x86 device. I tried different paths with various dependencies (with --defold) and combinations thereof (without --defold, or with --defold --with-debuggable, etc.) I wonder: is it possible to make it work? If yes, what am I missing? A: Compile librtj for ARM and x86. Cross-compile against different ARM and x86 binaries, manually linking.
